

Plant "Imagination"

If you have the chance, there is great Fall color at the Minnesota Landscape Arboretum now.

Anne and I visited on October 22 and the leaves of contrasting colors were still beautiful as shown above. The leaves at the waterfall were incredible as each leaf had many different colors.

As you plan your gardens you may want to include some grasses and sedges. The display at the Minnesota Landscape Arboretum is impressive and is a good place to start if you are looking for ideas. The plants are well labeled and varieties from very small to extremely large (10-12ft approximately) are on display. Grasses can add Fall and Winter interest as they add a lot of texture to our landscape.

The Scarecrow exhibit is very interesting and there are a lot of them scattered near the main building, and then the main display on the hillside just north of the parking lot. Bring your grandkids as they will enjoy these. Check before you go as this is a seasonal display.
